

Café Normandie at The Higgins Hotel

An elegant restaurant serving French influenced meals. We ate there almost every morning we were in New Orleans. Breakfast was delicious with quality and quantity making up for the somewhat pricey menu.

Found a photo on the web of a sailor with his French “amis”.
It was taken at a Paris Café nearing the end of WW2.

